FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Cooper & Reif Swing Chart Method Course Released

To the satisfaction of serious traders the world over, Marketplace Books has released Unlocking the Profits of the New Swing Chart Method, a course by Jeff Cooper and David Reif.

Containing unparalleled access to market visualization, this new detailed course exposes major upside moves clearly and consistently, pinpoints opportunities across multiple time frames in one simple view, enhances Gann Swing Charts and simplifies the Gann's Square of Nine to allow new levels of money making potential, and allows investors to visualize the markets and clearly identify trends, entries, and exits again and again.

The value of the course is accentuated by the credibility and extensive experience of these two successful traders. Undoubtedly, the methods are the result of years of trading, untold lessons from the market, and countless hours of studying by Cooper and Reif. The authors display a rare talent in conveying complex concepts in a way that is understandable and immediately applicable.

The strategy is applied to the entire history of the Dow from the 1920s until today. Cooper's direct enthusiasm and Reif's wit and confidence are only strengthened by the definitions and explanations provided in the complete preface and appendix.

Based in Columbia, Maryland, Marketplace Books has been serving the needs of investors, financial advisors, and professional traders since 1995, often partnering with key industry players in the investment world.
